Screaming Bombs Used In Nazi Raid On Welsh Towns

Bombs Fitted With Sirens To Terrorize Are Dropped During Attack

LONDON DECLARES LITTLE DAMAGE DONE

Air Raids Increase Today After Relatively Calm Night For British Isles

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 31.—German air raids against Great Britain and shipping in the English Channel increased in intensity today after a relatively calm night during which sporadic Nazi attacks caused only slight damage.

Presaging another active day for England's defenders, a German bomber suddenly attacked shipping off the southeast English coast.

Numerous bombs were dropped and exlosions were clearly heard inland.

British fighting planes—spitfires and hurricanes—hastily climbed to drive off the raider, which gained altitude rapidly and disappeared inland.

Sought To Attack Wales

Earlier waves of German bombers sought to attack Wales with little success while a lone German bomber dropped four missiles on a southeastern English community, injuring two persons and damaging a number of houses.

The Nazis' famous "screaming bombs," fitted with sirens to terrorize all within range, were used in the Welsh raid.

The four bombs fell near a group of houses, setting one on fire and lifting the roofs from two others. Two residents were injured seriously enough to require hospital care.

Windows were blasted over a considerable area.

The squalling fish, nibbling at slices of bread tossed into the waters at Pymatuning Dam, continue to attract crowds of onlookers. The ducks that endeavor to get in on the feast, make use of the thousands of fish as they mass around one single slice of bread, by walking over them, and getting a "top spot" at the lunch counter.

Attention was taken from the fish at Pymatuning Dam recently by a reluctant looking brown feathered duck, paddling down the waters, with three baby ducks following single file. After helping the fish get away with several slices of bread tossed into the water by fascinated motorists looking on, she took her little flock and continued on down stream.

Meanwhile, an Iranian (Persian) delegation was in Moscow for a series of important negotiations with Soviet officials. Russia desires to obtain use of all Iranian railroad lines.

Swelling Opposition To Third Term Seen

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 31.—The third term today dominates all other issues in the campaign of Wendell Willkie for the presidency although he had hoped to base his fight against the new deal and its champion on such grounds as government in business, unemployment, farm and trade problems and other controversial issues.

Every message of support which comes to him, almost without exception, lists the third term as a major factor in swinging the allegiance of the sender to Willkie.

Rumor Britain May Seek To Convoy Ship Carrying Duke Of Windsor

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The United States government will protest against any British effort to convoy the American export liner Excalibur, due to carry the Duke and Duchess of Windsor to the Bahamas, state department officials said today.

They said such a move would be a violation of international law as well as a complete disregard of American neutrality.

These officials, however, expressed confidence that the British government would not undertake to convoy the Excalibur with a flotilla of warships, despite news dispatches from London indicating such a step is planned.

Opposition To Conscription Is Now Increasing

Move To Work Out Voluntary Training In Peace-Time Develops

COMPULSORY PLAN IS BOGGING DOWN

Congressmen Assert Appealing Volunteer Plan Should Get Trial First

By GRIFFING BANCROFT JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A move to work out a voluntary military training plan as a substitute for the proposed conscription bill, developed in congress today amidst increasing opposition to the peace-time draft.

The move came as the house military affairs committee met to hear Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson in support of the conscription plan. Proponents frankly hoped that his first public appearance before a congressional committee since taking his new post would do much to off-set the opposition.

The senate military affairs committee, meanwhile, resumed its executive consideration of the measure but was not expected to send it to the floor until later in the week.

Not Enough Volunteer Effort

Much of the opposition to the porposed draft has been centered on the claim that military officials have not made a sufficient effort to build up an army of trainees by voluntary enlistments.

Legislation to further voluntary service as it is being worked out by the anti-draft bloc would propose two major changes—army enlistments would be lowered from three years to one, and pay would be increased to correspond more nearly to the higher wage rates now existing in the navy.

Stimson Sees Nation Facing Grave Danger

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Secretary of War Stimson today bluntly labeled Germany and Italy as "potential enemies", pictured Japan as an axis sympathizer, and declared that this nation must face the possibility that Great Britain may fall within "30 days".

The 72-year-old Republican member of President Roosevelt's coalition cabinet, making his first public appearance before a committee of congress since he accepted his post, stated flatly that the danger confronting the United States at the present time is "far greater" than in 1917 when this country entered the first world war.

His assertions were made during testimony in support of the administration's compulsory military training bill which is pending before the house military affairs committee.

Hunt More Victims Of $2,000,000 Blaze At Camden Plant

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., July 31.—As the casualty toll mounted to two known dead, nine to twenty-five missing and possibly dead and 150 injured, the search began today for bodies among the blackened ruins of one of the most destructive fires in the history of Camden.

An estimated 600 persons were homeless. Damage was unofficially estimated at more than $2,000,000. Sixty-four homes and small apartment buildings in a two-block area were leveled or rendered uninhabitable by the blaze which destroyed the main building of the R. M. Hollingshead Company Paint Works.

Many Explosions

The blaze was preceded by 28 explosions, according to employes of the company, and burned for hours as it consumed large stores of inflammables used in making paint, auto paints, polishes and dozens of other chemical products.

Officials of the company were inclined to blame spontaneous combustion in some of the inflammable oils caused by the excessive heat for the blast. Rumors of sabotage were

SLIGHTLY COOLER IS DAY'S PROMISE

Heat Wave In State May Moderate Some, Says Weather Bureau

(International News Service)

After 12 days of blistering heat and humidity in Pennsylvania, the united States weather bureau today hesitantly predicted:

"Fair and perhaps slightly cooler."

The weatherman explained his reluctance to make an out-and-out prediction for cool weather by reminding his audience that Pennsylvania had been "squeezed out" of the last promised relief

"There's a cool area coming down from the northwest," he said, "and we can only hope it reaches Pennsylvania this time."

The state's death toll, meanwhile, has been steadily rising. In the current heat wave 46 persons have succumbed to the heat and at least 31 others have been drowned in attempting to evade the hot temperatures. This makes a total of 77 for the state.

Al Smith Says Millions Of 'Genuine Democrats' To Join Him In Willkie Bolt

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 31.—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, who today is out in the open for Wendell L. Willkie for president, says the Roosevelt New Dealers are going to find it "a hard job" to get a man able to replace James A. Farley as Democratic national chairman.

Picking a successor for Farley is the difficult task which New Deal strategists will tackle in Washington tomorrow when the sub-committee of five named at Chicago by the Democratic national committee confer with President Roosevelt. Whoever is chosen to run Roosevelt's 1940 campaign must have the approval of the president.

"It certainly has to be said of Farley that he was a successful national chairman," was Al Smith's comment in an interview after announcing he was "bolting" the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket and would support Willkie.

Smith said in his opinion the recent "so-called Democratic convention" in Chicago "sounded the death knell of the Democratic party." He

LONDON, July 31.—Unofficial reports that Japan, Spain and Italy are preparing to grab shares of the British empire simultaneously with an attempted German invasion of the British Isles were being closely studied by the British government today.

Reports that Britain feels any great alarm over this possibility have no foundation, it was said.

Some Signs Heat Wave May Break

Large Expanses Of Nation Still Under Its Spell However

(International News Service)

The nation's prolonged heat wave showed signs of breaking up today, but large expanses of the country were still under its spell.

Widespread rains in the midwest, lower temperatures in the Great Lakes area this morning, and showers along the Atlantic seaboard raised hopes that the 14-day heat siege would soon be lifted.

Ohio, one of the worst afflicted states with a death toll of 99 attributed to the heat wave, received definite relief today in the form of thundershowers and cool breezes from the Great Lakes. Weather forecasters warned that Ohio temperatures would rise in the wake of rains, but they were not expected again to reach the high 90's of the last two weeks.

By contrast, the nation's capital today again expected a maximum

They show pictures of bathers and snow covered peaks, of lakes that are placid and blue, and spots where the tree tops reach up to the sky, in a land where there's nothing to do. And all of them wish I were there on the spot, at least that's what the cards say, but sometimes I wonder if that's what they mean, it's down under ninety today.

Governor Will Inspect Guard At Camp

Will Make Visit To Encampment

Governor James Going To Northern New York Camp On August 17

WILL BE LOCATED NEAR BORDER LINE

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 31—For the second time during his administration, Gov. Arthur H. James will transfer the seat of the state goverment to an army tent when he visits the encampment of the first army next month in northern New York.

Details of the governor's visit, as disclosed today, revealed that the governor will bunk out for one or two nights about three miles from Lisbon, in Lawrence county, N. Y., just a stone's throw from the Canadian border.

Last year the governor spent a night at Manassas, Va., where he reviewed part of the Pennsylvania National Guard, then engaged in maneuvers there. This year, however the governor will review the entire guard of 14,000 officers and men, engaged next month in the nation's largest peacetime training maneuvers. The trek north from Pennsylvania begins Friday.

Hightlight Of State's Encampment

The governor's visit will be one of the highlights of the Pennsylvania encampment. The chief executive will visit the guard in his official capacity as commander in-chief of the state militia.

A colorful ceremony will greet him as he reaches the field by automobile on Saturday, August 17.

Nineteen guns will boom a salute as he walks across the parade grounds to the tent of Adjutant General Edward Martin, commanding general of the 28th division, "Pennsylvania's own" and head of the Pennsylvania National Guard. A guard of honor will accompany him.

The commander-in-chief will greet the commanding general to the accompaniment of four ruffles of the drum and four flourishes of the bugle, following which the governor will inspect the guard.

Will Review Guard

In the evening Governor James will attend a dinner to be given by General Martin and the following day, Sunday August 18, the entire Pennsylvania National Guard will pass in review before him. Preceding that, memorial services will be held for the World War dead of the 28th division.

The governor will share all the discomforts of army life during his stay at the encampment. He will sleep on a regular army cot, protected by a regulation mosquito bar. In the morning he will perform his abultions with a tin pitcher and tin basin. A few coat hangers and another cot complete the tent's equipment.

In front of his tent, during the governor's stay at camp, will fly the state flag and the National Guard headquarters flag, which leaves the governor's office only on such official occasions.

EXPECT APPROVAL OF PLAN TO CALL NATIONAL GUARD

of Kentucky, scheduled the debate to start tomorrow. He said the measure will be overwhelmingly approved and sent to the House by Saturday.

Favorable votes by all the committee's Republican members who were present was taken as an indication that the legislation will receive a majority of the G. O. P. vote in the Senate.

Another favorable factor was the plan of some Democrats and Republicans to press for passage of the guard program as a substitute for the highly controversial military training legislation.

Adopted By Committee

The measure to call out the guard was adopted by the committee a few hours after it was formally introduced by its chairman, Sen. Sheppard (D.), Texas. The vote came after brief hearings during which Gen. George Marshall, army chief of staff, warned that this nation has no time to lose in training the National Guard in modern combat methods. The president would be authorized to mobilize for a year's training a total of 320,000 National Guardsmen and members of the officers reserve.

Direct Re-Employment

Senate leaders predicted the re-employment amendment, written into the legislation, at the request of the president, will tend to diminish opposition. It would direct employers to rehire national guardsmen at the conclusion of their year's training or be subject to charges of violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

Marshall testified the war department would be "liberal" with National Guardsmen with dependents, and give them every consideration possible.

Only about one in every ten automobiles pulled to the side of the road and stopped as required by law, when the fire truck approached with its siren screaming. The rest kept right on going, and the big truck had to thread its way through traffic to get to the fire scene. The law specifies that traffic must pull to the side of the road and stop when a fire truck approaches.

enlistments," said Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich. "I feel certain if we raised the pay we could get a sufficient number of men to sign up for one-year training periods—and I venture to say they would be much better men than those who would be drafted."

The voluntary program would also call for the administration to make a real effort—"by dramatizing and publicizing its appeal"—to secure trainees.

Meanwhile, opponents of the conscription plan already were hailing its delay in reaching the floor of either house as a victory for them. Senator Holt (D) W. Va., declared: "The blitzkrieg drive for a conscription bill before the people can awaken has bogged down."

It isn't enough to believe in a Higher Power and pray for a miracle. Our trouble is that we know too much really to expect the miracle we pray for.

REPORTS SAY JAPAN SPAIN AND ITALY MAY JOIN ATTACK

powers if and when Germany strikes against the heart of the empire has been under consideration for many weeks or months it was said.

British officials are under no misconception, official quarters declared. Not only England but the entire empire and "every atom of British influence" are threatened and the next few weeks or months will decide the outcome.

Most Serious Points

The situation is regarded most serious in the Far East and at Gibraltar. There has been mounting evidence recently that Spain may throw in her lot with the Nazi-Fascist combination and strike with Italy against Gibraltar.

Madrid newspapers for the past week have been harping upon Spain's claims to the Rock which guards the entrance to the Mediterranean.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Fascist newspaper Arriba in Madrid today vigorously criticized certain "large and wealthy countries" which allegedly have delayed Spain's recovery. The attack was believed directed at the United States for the presidential embargo on oil shipments, but against England as well.)

Spanish-Italian seizure of Gibraltar and provocative action by Japan in the Far East—possibly against Hong Kong—would completely disrupt the normal procedure of the British empire.

Spokesmen for Britain took advantage of the tide of pessimistic reports to warn the United States about "what might happen when her turn comes if England falls."

Once again they reiterated the thesis that adequate American aid to Britain will guarantee continued existence of the democracies on both sides of the Atlantic.

FAREWELL GIVEN FOR REV. YEATES

of ministers going from one pastorate to another and wished Rev. Yeates well in his new venture.

Greetings from the New Castle Ministerial Association were brought by the association president, Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, after which Rev. W. E. Minteer of Ellwood City, superintendent of missions of Beaver Valley Presbytery, spoke in behalf of the Presbytery. Rev. Minteer is to aid the local church in securing a new pastor.

Following, Gilbert H. Colnot, Sr., gave the congregation's farewell address and reviewed the happenings of the past five years, Rev. Yeates' pastorate here, saying that the church had made a definite step forward in that time.

Gifts Presented

The gifts from the congregation, a chair, occasional table and lamp, were presented to the Yeates family by C. C. "Rube" McKibben, vice-moderator of the church, and the program closed with Rev. Yeates' gracious response.

J. S. McConnell then invited the guests to the church assembly room where tasty refreshments were served.

Much credit for the success of the affair is due the general committee in charge, composed of C. C. McKibben, Watt Rupert, J. R. A. Patterson, Abe Kildoo and John S. McConnell.

Rev. Yeates preached his farewell sermon at the Third church Sunday, and after attending the New Wilmington missionary conference, the Yeates family will leave for their vacation before going to their new home in Buffalo.

AL SMITH SAYS MILLIONS TO JOIN IN WILLKIE BOLT

declared he, and "millions of other genuine Democrats" throughout the United States will march under the banner of Willkie.

According to Al, Willkie's nomination at Philadelphia "was brought about in a Democratic and American way in contrast to the subservient and boss controlled New Deal bloc who had the nerve to style themselves a Democratic convention."

This is the second time Al Smith has "taken a walk" on Roosevelt. He did it in 1936 when he supported Alf Landon.

Willkie in Al's opinion, is "a sure bet" to win over Roosevelt in the November election.

Smith told reporters he is anti-Roosevelt in this campaign for two reasons:

1.—Because of the record of Roosevelt's administration which he assailed from many angles.

2.—Because Roosevelt is running for a third term which he characterized as a "march away from the principles of Thomas Jefferson."

"The Democratic convention of 1940 piled the last straw on the camel's back by nominating Mr. Roosevelt for a third term," said Smith.

which the candidate has made since his nomination he has mentioned the third term only once or twice and his sole observation has been "no man is indispensable."

Against Third Term

Yet the messages of support which come from Governor Alfred E. Smith, Judge Samuel Seabury, famed New York municipal graft prosecutor; Joseph M. Phoskauer, once one of President Roosevelt's strongest supporters; T. Jefferson Coolidge, Lewis W. Douglas and John W. Hanes, all of the first New Deal, and many others all offer the third term as one of the strongest reasons for rejecting the candidacy of President Roosevelt.

Willkie obviously is a little amazed at the trend of affairs. Having warmed up on what he considers to be the major issues he now finds that he may have to go out and pitch third term because that predominates as a basis for disagreeing with the president's candidacy.

Seabury paid straight telegraph rates to give the candidate a quote out of the proceedings of the house of representatives in 1857 when a formal resoultion against the third term was adopted.

For himself, the New York jurist who handled the investigation into the affairs of Mayor Jimmie Walker of New York City during the gubernatorial administration of Franklin D Roosevelt had this to say of the president's candidacy:

"The cherished tradition against a third term is now sought to be consigned to the scrap heap."

Willkie was gratified to receive Judge Seabury's message and also to learn that Smith, the 1928 Democratic candidate was for him.

HUNT MORE VICTIMS OF $2,000,000 BLAZE AT CAMDEN PLANT

not taken seriously by Hollingshead officials. The company had recently received a large order for metal polish and paint from the army and navy, it was admitted by Richard M. Hollingshead, Jr., president.

The first known casualty was that of Raymond Carter, 38, of Collingswood, N. J., an employe, who died in Cooper hospital of burns.

Fireman William Merrigan, of Camden, died in the same hospital of a heart attack suffered while fighting the fire.

To Hunt Bodies

Mrs. Mary W. Kobus, Camden city commissioner and director of public safety, said firemen equipped with asbestos suits and gloves would begin searching for bodies as soon as the ruins were cool enough. Meanwhile, Fire Captain Raymond Smith of Camden was burned on the feet while searching through the smoldering debris.

Although insurance underwriters estimated the death toll as seven, Mrs. Kobus said she was "not so hopeful."

Police listed nine persons, including four girls, all employes of the company, as missing. But Mayor George E. Brunner said he believed the number would mount to 25.

Twenty-five persons, including employes of the company and firemen, were in hospitals for treatment. About 50 firemen and 40 employes were included among the injured, many being discharged after treatment. Fire Chief John Lennox was hospitalized because of exhaustion.

Declaring a state of emergency, Mayor Brunner paved the way for the mobilization of 500 national guardsmen of the 157th Field Artillery to prevent looting. An area of about six square blocks was roped off. Guardsmen patrolled this area on the lookout for looters among the damaged and evacuated homes.

It isn't the fault of Big Business now. It is eager to get started on defense work, but the fateful days go by and nobody has yet placed an order.

U. S. TO PROTEST ANY CONVOY FOR AMERICAN LINER

were not carried by International News Service and these reports were denied in London today.)

There was some speculation in diplomatic quarters on the possibility that the duke would travel on another carrier, possibly the trans-Atlantic air clipper. It was thought possible that as a precautionary measure, the British had booked passage for the duke and his American-born duchess on the Excalibur and that the couple actually would secretly embark on some other ship.

As the newly-appointed governor general of the Bahamas, the duke is traveling in a diplomatic passport, although he holds a commission in the British army.

The largest chystal of corundum ever found was mined in Macon county, North Carolina. It weighed 312 pounds, and is now in the Amherst collection.

A Christian land seems to be one in which famous writers never admit having any faith without adding an apology to show they aren't simple.

About 200 guests who called throughout the day were served a tasty buffet lunch, from a table artistically decorated in keeping with the anniversary motif, which too, was suggestive of the ruby theme.

DEMOCRACY WILL NOT DIE

IN their misguided flights of oratory, the dictators keep claiming that democracy is outmoded, on its last legs, due for utter and permanent collapse. But what do the dictators offer as a substitute? The kind of war economy now effective in the totalitarian countries?

Even if Winston Churchill's dire forecast of a Dark Age in the event of nazi-fascist victory were to materialize, democracy would not be doomed for all time to come. It would be reborn through the efforts of free spirits unwilling to exist under the iron heel of tyranny.

Democracy has its weaknesses. It calls for constant reshaping in accordance with new aims and changing conditions. It needs to guard against complacent ineffectiveness. But democracy is the hope of mankind for civilized accomplishment and the satisfaction of life's higher wants. It will survive all brutal thrusts in the opposite direction, for in the long run people will not be content with the spiritual restraints of materialistic militarism.

STILL RUNNING THE GERMAN BLOCKADE

The Britannic, arriving at New York this week, brought in a load of luggage belonging to the Duke of Windsor, soon to be Governor General of the Bahamas. More interesting was a little item of news contributed by passengers who had kept their eyes open during the voyage.

They sighted over 100 freighters and tankers heading for England. One eastbound convoy contained 65 vessels and another 49. While the British censorship has kept movements of ships quite effectively concealed, Government spokesmen have repeatedly assured the people that they have no reason to fear starvation.

Supplies of war materials have also been reaching England in large quantities, despite the German aircraft and submarine patrol. If more than 100 ships, carrying oil and other essential commodities to Britain, are sighted within a week on a single sea lane, the German counter-blockade cannot be so efficient as has been asserted from Berlin.

SALUTING AMERICA'S FINEST SHIP

New York properly extended a community welcome to the new steamship America, fresh from her builders at Newport News. The nation as a whole may well join in the congratulations on the completion of her trial run by the largest and finest passenger vessel ever built in this country.

The new flagship of the United States Lines is designed with latest devices for safety and comfort.

The steady enlargement of our merchant marine under the new policy of government financial aid is a matter of pride to all good Americans. It has a direct bearing on both commercial prosperity and national defense. Not long ago only 10 percent of this country's exports were carried by vessels under the American flag. Now we are assembling a merchant fleet that may soon be the equal of any in the world.

A strong merchant marine, always essential as support for the navy, is doubly imperative today as a reserve auxiliary in view of the naval expansion program. The speed with which this great vessel, the America, was constructed since the laying of her keel less than two years ago speaks well for the efficiency of our shipyards.

SUPPORT OF AGGRESSORS ENDS

Decision of President Roosevelt to place oil and scrap metal on the list of strategic materials which must be licensed for export ended an anomaly which for three years mystified those who gave any consideration to the strange situation.

The position of the United States government against aggressor nations is known to the world, having been stated in clear terms and reiterated on every acceptable occasion. The president has advocated the isolation of aggressors. The government has refused as a matter of principle and as a matter of international justice to recognize the conquests of aggressor nations. For several years, in the interests of national security, the United States has maintained its entire navy in the Pacific on the theory that Japan's imperialistic urge might threaten American interests in the East.

Yet, all of this time the United States has been helping to arm aggressors to an extent indicated by the fact that Japan bought 2,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel, together with a heavy tonnage of fabricated steel, from American dealers in the last year.

In addition it has been suspected for some time that excessive shipments of oil to Spain have simply been shuttled through the peninsula to Germany and Italy, which means, of course, that this nation has been supplying aggressor nations with vital sinews of war.

When it is considered that the United States government is now preparing to adopt a compulsory military training bill and is striving feverishly to strengthen itself to resist possible attack, the realization that Uncle Sam has been arming aggressors, giving them the steel and the oil which are as vital to them as the bearth of life, and which this nation needs in the fulfillment of its own scheme of military development, makes Americans feel rather silly.

This decision with respect to the arming of those nations which have been branded as aggressors comes belatedly, but it is nevertheless an approach to realism in international affairs.

DEPLORES PASSING OF FAIRY TALES

SPEAKING on the "Value of the Library in the Field of Kindergarten-Primary Education," before the department of kindergarten-primary education at the summer meeting July 2 of the National Education Association at Milwaukee, I made a plea for the return of the fanciful in the stories read or told the young child. This was in keeping with the pleas for fairy tales Mr. Clarence Sumner and I made in our recent volume, "Books and Babies." To quote from my speech:

"In the writer's judgment, library values at the kindergarten-primary level would increase tremendously if folk lore and fairy tales were brought back. It is amazing how these precious treasures have been snatched away from little children during recent years. In their place have come the factual and the here and now. Mere babies now are supposed to be sophisticated little scientists and to think and talk about realities which only the university student was exposed to years ago.

Chains On Realism

"This little child must face reality as early as possible and thenceforth forever. Dwarfs, brownies, fairies must be kept away from him and if he should chance upon some of these imaginary creatures clandestinely they are to be torn away from him and chained beyond his reach, with him secure in the field of facts. If the modern little child uses his imagination at all, it is supposed to fit into the conventional patterns of what can be seen, heard, felt, weighed, measured. The average reading text-book for the young child is a penitentiary of facts.

"How long, O Lord, how long will the chains of realism bind the feet of little children, enslaving their imagination. Fortunately a great many babies and young children escape these chains until they get to school, at least. Some, indeed, find a fairyland at school. These children have parents and teachers who believe in fairies and go with the young creator into his enchanted land among the fairies.

Flights Of Fancy

"Normally the child from two to six lives among the fairies. He creates with them and enjoys his creations. Instead of hampering his flights of fancy we should further them. Fill the baby and young child, therefore, full of fairy tales that lack the fearful. Balance this menu of the fanciful with adequate activities with things and play with many other children—for the child's likeableness, happiness and efficiency.

"Of a certain family of three children, all heard fairy tales read to them profusely from the middle of their second year through the primary grades. All excelled later in the factual fields. All participated well in school activities, making the National Honor Society. One has a master's degree in chemistry and a doctor of philosophy in plant physiology, one is a home economist, and the third will enter Massachusetts Institute of Technology in September. Yet, according to the prevailing theory about fairy tales, all these children should have become escapists, day dreamers and social misfits. If the little child could be heard he would sing: "Bring back, bring back, Oh, bring back the fairies to me!"

You may have a list of books to read to the baby and young child by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, N. Y., enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BACK TO THE FARM?

The growth of both the big and the smaller cities in America is slowing down at a much faster rate than that in the country as a whole.

Indeed, if it were not for New York, one might say that our ten biggest cities have been standing still in the last ten years. New York did add something under 400,000 people. But our second city, Chicago, can only show a miscroscopic increase of 8,000 souls, against an increase of nearly 700,000 people in the preceeding decade. Philadelphia, our third city, has actually lost 15,000 people. Detroit has done better with a gain of 50,000 people, but in the preceeding decade, she gained nearly 600,000 people. St. Louis has lost nearly 10,000 people, and Pittsburgh has lost 5,000. By comparison Baltimore has done well with a gain of 50,000 people, a gain of something over six per cent.

The answer is said to be the suburbs. If so, devotees of bigness need have no fears though city tax collectors may have their troubles. It would be no tribute to the intelligence of the American people if, despite the freedom power lines and the automobile give them, they remained as crowded as ever within the limits of the great towns. An understandable, even a sensible dispersal is taking place around all American cities.

New Castle's population shrunk a few hundred during the ten-year period, but one has only to drive out of New Castle on any highway to see that hundreds of citizens have built their homes outside the city's limits.

The change creates tax and other problems which can be solved, but it also makes possible a more free and healthy living for many city dwellers than was possible before.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:17. Sun rises tomorrow 4:56.

It has been suggested that President Roosevelt use for his campaign song that old ditty "You Made Me Love You But I Didn't Wanta Do It."

A colored lady was talking to her missus and told her that her son was learning to be a pharmacist, but she did not know how he was going to get a farm after he learned that.

Percy was introduced to a pretty girl at a recent social affair. "Yum, yum," he enthused as the dance ended. "You look nice enough to eat. "Oh, thank you so much, Mr. Percy," she said. "I was planning to go home and take a snack but if you insist you can take me down to the Castleton for a midnight supper."

It is said that most people who have been in accidents are more careful drivers than the ones who haven't been in smashups. One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warnings.

REALLY ANSWERED

Willie had come in to ask his father what made popcorn pop. But father, unlike other parents, had an answer.

"I am glad you asked that question, William," he said. "It is a very interesting phenomenon. The polygonal starch cells in the corn are of such a nature as to facilitate expansion by heat and to render it explosive along the line of least resistance, in the direction of the two main radii. The endosperm swells considerably as a result, the peripheral portions cohering with the hull, but the fractured portions turning back in a more or less symmetrical manner to meet below the embry—why, must you go?"

"Yes," replied William. "Sister wanted to know how it was done and I'm going to tell her."

An old one but still good for use now and again:

"I hope you gave that nickel when they took up the collection dear," said mother to her young son as he returned from Sunday school. "Ah, I can see that you didn't give it to the missions at all."

"The missions will get it," said the boy. "I told the ice cream man to be sure to give it to them".

Asked if her daughter was taking violin lessons, a Third ward woman replied: "No, but she has beautiful elbows."

"Getting more out of life" usually means making more money which others get out of you.

ASTOUNDING

The police ambulance clanged up to the intersection, where a man was stretched unconscious on the sidewalk.

"Did you strike this man with your car?" asked the policeman of a motorist parked nearby.

"No, he didn't officer" said a bystander. "He just stopped to let this chap go by and the fellow fainted from surprise."

It has been found that very few aliens on relief in this country want to go back to their homelands even if their passage is paid. They evidently want to stay here long enough to become Democrats.

"Office holders," declaimed the man who wanted to be one but couldn't, "never resign and rarely die." "You're right," replied the holder of a government job. We only die once."

Mr. Willkie will not have to campaign much in Pennsylvania. The state will go for him in a big way. You know there is a law against betting on an election.

A lot of people are not afraid of anything happening to their automobiles by leaving them stand on the streets all night. Hundreds of them roost on the streets every night all night.

No matter what the first son is named, he is most always called "Junior."

Already some bird is predicting a long cold winter. Wouldn't that freeze you?

NEW HORIZON

A couple of mosquitoes were attending a convention of insects and an old-timer was talking with a modern one.

"Things have changed a lot" sighed the old timer. "When I was a boy you could bite a girl on the hands and face and now look at the opportunities that are before you chaps."

I know a young man who is engaged to marry. He and his fiancee are concentrating on houses and furniture and interior decoration which they are studying to obtain suggestions for their home-to-be. Their idea is to start out with only good items and gradually add to them as their budget allows. Consequently, instead of, at the beginning, filling their home with huge suites of inferior furniture, they are hopeful of accumulating pieces constructed on classic lines and that will last a life-time.

Don't you agree with me that this is the proper way to start housekeeping? Is it not preferable to a hurried selection that must be renewed every few years or to choosing fads that will soon grow tiresome because seen in the homes of many friends and neighbors?

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: The best man at my forthcoming wedding is married. His wife, whom I do not know well, will take no part in the ceremony. Is is necessary for me to invite her to my wedding? Is it also essential that I assume the cost of my attendants' dresses and other accoutrements incidental to my wedding? —Helen.

Answer: The best man's wife should be invited, without fail, to both the wedding ceremony and the reception. She should not, however, be seated with the bridal group at the breakfast, unless she is taking part in the ceremony.

Unless you are wealthy, you will not be expected to assume the cost of your attendants' clothes. This expense is usually borne by the girls themselves.

Question: I am going to a formal evening wedding. Should I remove my wrap when I enter the church and allow my escort to carry it or should I carry it myself?—Guest.

Answer: Do not remove your wrap. Bare arms and shoulders should not be exposed while in church.

Births and marriages are on the increase in Germany. The crop of widows is also larger than it has been for twenty years.

"Whatever did you take that back part of the book out for?" asked the wife of the absent-minded doctor.

"Oh, er, yes. I know now," said the medico. "It was marked 'appendix,' and I just took it out without thinking."

NOT A DONATION

The motorcop had stopped the driver and had written out a ticket. Suddenly the officer turned.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"Nothing" said the motorist.

"Well, you just gave me a nasty look as I handed you the ticket."

"Oh you must be mistaken officer," said the driver apologetically. "If you have a nasty look you must have got it all by yourself."

The old question of whether men or women have superior intelligence was being discussed at a conference.

"Men are much smarter" said one man. "Everyone knows that."

"Smarter nothing" said another chap. "I'll prove it. Now you know that many men buy hair tonics to restore their hair, don't you?"

"Yes."

"But the women are smarter than that. They don't waste their time but simply buy new hair."

The picture in which she starred had made a world-wide hit, and the advertising people began beating a path to her studio.

Speaking of this and that, we must confess that old Ben Franklin would be pretty much of an old fogy if he was around today. Just listen to this saying of his:

Back in dad's time it wasn't necessary to buy an every-day suit—you merely waited five years for your Sunday suit to get dingy.

A GOOD ANSWER

During education week a visitor at one of the schools determined to find out how much the children were learning.

"What lesson do we learn from the bee?" she asked one boy.

"Not to get stung," he replied promptly.

It wasn't the answer the woman expected but after thinking it over she decided that the boy was right, too.

Chinese Medicine Due For Airing
Drug Firm Is Denied Use Of Mails
Recall Washington Used Old Herbs

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON July 31.—Fong Wan is a Chinese drug company in business in Oakland just across the bay from San Francisco. It processes herbs into such medicines as the Chinese rely on. For a long time it advertised extensively and distributed its products widely throughout the country, not only to Oriental residents in the United States, but to many Americans also.

However, a couple of years ago, a charge of using the mails to defraud was preferred against the concern and the post office department promptly denied it the further use of its facilities to continue in business. A jury in the federal court for northern California threw out the case, but postal officials refused to lift their ban against the concern. The Federal Trade commission likewise has a case docketed against it, but hasn't seen fit to bring it to a hearing.

Now Fong Wan has employed counsel and proposes to do its utmost to get back into national activity.

It will be a queer kind of proceeding, soon to come up in Washington.

Chinese medical practice and remedies will be contrasted with the Occident's, and Fong Wan hopes to prove that it isn't a contrast at all to China's disadvantage.

Furthermore, the point will be made that, in the west itself, today's practitioners and their curatives are of too recent origin to be much depended on.

Thousands of Years

Fong Wan's spokesmen remark that, less than a century ago, there was almost no such thing as an Occidental dentist. It wasn't until 1858 that Britain established state supervision over all physicians and surgeons. It was at about the same time that America began to build up its present system of checks and balances over the medical fraternity.

On the other hand, for thousands of years ordinary herbs, such as Fong Wan deals with, were the only curatives for human ailments.

Herbal studies and treatises were the first on record pertaining to curative influences upon the body. Some of them antedate even Aesculapius and Hippocrates.

That's the sort of background of research that Fong Wan lays claim to.

Consider, for a minute, the soya bean. Since time immemorial it's been an integral part of the vegetable and medical kingdoms in China. Yet it was unknown to all but a few Americans a few years ago. Today thousands of bushels of it are grown in this country and the product is used for many purposes That just goes to show, according to Fong Wan, how backward the Occident has been in delving into the possibilities of vegetables.

The west? Why, it wasn't until 1755 that Menghini published his elaborate study of camphor's action upon different kinds of animals. It wasn't until 1776 that Daries determined, from experiments upon himself and cats, the actual effects of belladonna and other atropaceous plants.

George Washington, by the way, knew something of the merits of herbs. In his personal journal he recounts the use, in 1762, of "Jesuit bark", this being another name for herbaceous restoratives.

Chinese Doctors

The Chinese consider their doctors better trained than the Occident's, too.

The Chinese "doc" isn't simply rushed through a medical school. He learns how to treat disease through an apprenticeship system. His father was a doc before him, or his people paid money for him as an apprentice. It takes years before he becomes proficient. He gets neither a diploma nor a license. Anybody can call himself a doctor in China, but he has to be a veteran before he can get patients.

How can he be identified as a veteran? Why, the Chinese dote on bearded men as medical practitioners, and, by Chinese custom, no man is permitted to wear chin-whiskers before he's at least 50. He knows what herbs will do for invalids by that time.

Occidental scientists incline to laugh at Chinese medicine, but, as the late Thomas C. Edison remarked, "Until man duplicates a blade of grass, nature can laugh at his so-called scientific knowledge."

That thought makes cases like Fong Wan's puzzling to courts and commissions.

They're a trifle uncertain as to whether western science knows so much more than Oriental science as it thinks it does.

Hints On Etiquette

The guest who has nothing to say is a definite problem for her hostess. If he or she is shy, they should overcome it for the sake of putting others at their ease If they cannot bring themselves to talk much, at least they can give interested attention to those who do, and help the sociability along by asking intelligent questions.

EXPERTS

"Isn't he wonderful?" she whispered to the woman seated next to her. "No matter where they hold their bats he can hit them."

The Great Game Of Politics

The Heat Is On Mr. Lewis

WASHINGTON, July 31.

THERE seems to be a kind of concentrated effort to "put the heat" on Mr. John L. Lewis, doughty leader of the CIO. In the last Presidential campaign Mr. Lewis probably was Mr. Roosevelt's most influential and articulate supporter. Certainly, he was the most liberal contributor to his campaign fund. Through Mr. Lewis, it has been authoritatively stated, a minimum of $600,000 of CIO money was given to the national committee and agencies thereof. The official record accounted for $500,000.

THE purpose of the "heat" is to swing Mr. Lewis back into line behind Mr. Roosevelt, whom he somewhat sensationally repudiated a few months ago when he declared that if Mr. Roosevelt ran for a third term he would be "ignominiously defeated" and "deserve to be." The individuals who are applying the "heat" are divided into two groups. One is composed of labor leaders of somewhat less eminence than Mr. Lewis, but allegedly strong in the CIO councils, controlling unions or holding positions of importance in the organization. A few of these are at heart hostile to Mr. Lewis; others are friendly. But all of them, one way or another, have either been taken into or have barged into the Roosevelt camp.

THE tactics of some of these labor leaders is to "rough" Mr. Lewis into yielding. Their idea is to make it appear that by opposing Mr. Roosevelt he not only will not be able to take any considerable number of his followers with him but will weaken his own leadership. That is exactly the thing one or two of those now closest to the White House would most like to see happen. Actually, their enthusiasm for Mr. Roosevelt is largely with that end in view. Others, like his friend in West Virginia a few days ago, take a different line. Their strategy is to flatter Mr. Lewis into abandoning his "recalcitrancy" and "being good." To this end they sonorously proclaim that of course Mr. Lewis will never desert "The Great Humanitarian" who has done more for labor than "all other Presidents combined." These point out, too, that it was Mr. Lewis who brought about the nomination of Mr. Henry Wallace, which is complete nonsense, and that the Democratic platform is a noble document, which is even more nonsensical.

THE other group of "heat" appliers are the New Deal press agents and columnists, both official and unofficial. The aim of these is to supplement the efforts of the new White House labor favorites by undermining the Lewis position. They do this by stories insisting that he has lost the confidence of his following; that he can no longer control his aides; hinting that with Roosevelt backing it will be easy for one of the new group to supplant him; suggesting that he owe more to Mr. Roosevelt than Mr. Roosevelt to him; intimating that the President really made him and can destroy him if he chooses.

BETWEEN this kind of publicity and the various kinds of pressure there is no doubt that considerable "heat" is being engendered. The interesting thing, however, is that up to date, at any rate, it has had no effect whatever. At the moment, Mr. Lewis appears quite impervious to, and almost unconscious of, the heat. In the end, of course, he may yield. Some of the New Dealers have already proclaimed it. But as yet he certainly has given no such indication. He is, of course, by far the ablest, most intelligent and courageous man in the whole labor move-

FATHER

A father is a fellow with a lot of curious ways,
The best that's said about him is the monthly bill he pays.
But his notions are old-fashioned, as so frequently he's told,
And (he'll prove it by the label) all his suits are five years old.

The mother and the daughters often smile when he's about,
He's awkward and he's dowdy, but he's such a good old scout!
He has no idea of color or of fashions up-to-date
His trouser knees are baggy and his neckties never straight.

A father is a fellow who needs watching day by day.
If the family didn't warn him he'd get lost upon the way.
He would always be in trouble, as they frequently allow
If his loved ones didn't tell what to do and when and how.

A father doesn't really know what's going on at all.
It's a different world entirely from the one that he'll recall
He thinks twelve o'clock is late enough for children to be out,
But somehow they seem to love him, for he's such a good old scout.

Police Confer With F.B.I. Men

Conference Held By Officers Of Western Pennsylvania On Defense Investigations

Approximately two score municipal police officials of western Pennsylvania towns conferred with FBI agents in council chambers, city hall, Tuesday, relative to co-operation in matters of national defense investigation, it was announced here today.

The conference was called by special agent in charge S. K. McKee of the Pittsburgh office of the Federal Bureau of Identification. It was one of several held in various cities and towns in this state. In the not far future group or private meetings will be held with heads of all police agencies in the state.

The president of the United States who is of course, the commander in chief of the Army and Navy, issued a directive on September 6, 1939, designating the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a national clearing house to receive information and investigate complaints concerning matters affecting national defense and internal security.

Included in such categories are violations of the espionage, sabotage and neutrality acts, all of which are federal statutes. Due to the limited jurisdiction of local, county and state law enforcement agencies, it was necessary to designate a national federal agency with broadcast possible jurisdiction as a co-ordinator of such work.

It is important that all information relating to such matters be forwarded by private citizens as well as officials directly to the nearest representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation so that the information may be recorded and made available for study and coordination on a national basis.

It is, therefore, urged that any information of this type be forwarded to the FBI office in this area, the address of which is as follows:

Special Agent in Charge
Federal Bureau of Investigation
U. S. Department of Justice
620 New Federal Building
Post Office Box 1525
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The telephone number of the FBI office is GRant 0800.

This office is now open 24 hours per day.

Docks And Piers At Swansea Among Those Bombed, Says Report

(International News Service)

BERLIN, July 31.—Bombing of a British airplane factory at Filton and attacks on docks and piers at Swansea and Plymouth were reported today in the German high command communique.

Two British planes, which penetrated western Germany were shot down by Nazi pursuit planes, the high command asserted, adding that a check-up showed that 21 British planes were shot down on July 29, the day of the massed German assault on Dover.

The communique said:

"Unfavorable weather conditions restricted activity of our air force.

"Nevertheless, in addition to reconnaissance flights the air force bombed an airplane factory in Filton as well as docks and piers at Swansea and Plymouth during the night preceding July 31.

"Only a few British planes penetrated western Germany during the night. Bombs were dropped but no damage nor casualties were caused. Two of the British planes were shot down by our pursuit planes.

"It is now revealed that 21 British planes were shot down on July 29."

Assistant Postmaster Represented Local Lions At Cuban Conclave

Assistant Postmaster James G. Leslie was home from Havana, Cuba, today.

As president of the New Castle Lions club, he has been in the Pan-American conference city for the annual convention of Lions International. With him was Mrs. Leslie.

Leslie, who lives at 808 Court street, said the Lions heard several of the Pan-American conference notables, but he didn't see Secretary of State Cordell Hull. He and Mrs. Leslie saw khaki-clad Cuban soldiers about the streets.

The trip to and from Havana, Leslie said, "was a very normal one."

Later he will report the convention to his fellow Lions here.

He has been nominated to be a member of the tariff commission, a nomination reported favorably to the Senate earlier today by the Senate finance committee.

ITALIANS ANNOUNCE BOMBING DAMAGE TO BRITISH OBJECTIVES

(International News Service)

ROME, July 31.—Italian air raiders, in a successful attack on the Arabian Port of Aden, struck two ships and a large gasoline depot, an Italian military bulletin said today.

The announcement said:

"Our airmen from Africa again bombed the Port of Aden, obtaining full hits on two ships and a big patrol depot. All of our planes returned.

"In the course of an enemy attempt to attack Assab, one Blenheim bomber was shot down by our air defense."

But how unfair it seems to praise Nazi efficiency and never say anything good about Al Capone.

ment. He is also the most influential and honest. His attitude, one way or the other, is politically important and the outcome of the effort to coerce and cajole him is awaited with interest in both parties.

IT is easy to see reasons why it might be expedient and advantageous to Mr. Lewis to make peace with Mr. Roosevelt and again support him. On the other hand, there are real difficulties in the way. One of these is the congenital disinclination of Mr. Lewis to eat his own words. He not only has expressed his opposition to Mr. Roosevelt publicly but he has privately expressed the belief to a large number of persons that the national interests can best be served by getting Mr. Roosevelt out of the White House. It is true Mr. Lewis does not personally like Mr. Roosevelt. For one thing, he objects to being patronized, but his feeling that if the country is to be rescued it will have to be by someone else is not a matter of personal pique. It is a matter of profound conviction.

THOSE who know Mr. Lewis best admit the possibility that he may be "swung into line" but they do not regard it as likely. They concede that the flop into the third-term camp of his friend, Senator Wheeler, who is on record as opposed to third terms, looks significant. There are those who say that Mr. Wheeler would not have flopped without Mr. Lewis' consent. Nevertheless, they will be surprised if Mr. Lewis flops too. Somehow or other, they can't quite see him turning the kind of somersault required. It would involve too much loss of self-respect.

John Barrymore Asserts He's Broke

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—The great profile regrets to announce that he is broke.

He has an allowance of $1,000 a week, but to John Barrymore it just seems to melt away on household expenses, which, according to his testimony on file today with United States Bankruptcy Referee Ernest Utley, are sort "of a mysterious thing to me".

Barrymore appeared before Utley yesterday for questioning by his creditors, among whom was a former wife, Dolores Costello Vruwink, regarding his assets and obligations.

He said he owed around $68,000, but was unable to explain just how he disbursed $1,000 weekly allowed him as living expenses. He got that amount several weeks ago when he petitioned the courts for an extension of time to meet his obligations.

GERMAN RAIDER IS REPORTED DAMAGED BY BRITISH VESSEL

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 31.—A German raider in the south Atlantic has been damaged in a naval engagement with H. M. S. Alcantara, the admiralty announced today.

The raider escaped after the Alcantara's speed was reduced "by a lucky shot which killed two of her crew and injured seven," the announcement said.

(Lloyd's register lists the Alcantara as a 22,200 merchant vessel. It probably was converted into an armed merchantman by the admiralty.)

Gordon R. Crider Dies Of Injuries

Workman Employed By Collier Construction Company Fatally Hurt

Gordon Roy Crider, aged 43, of Beaver Dam, O., died in the New Castle hospital at 10:45 p. m. Tuesday of injuries received shortly after noon Saturday, when he was struck by a falling electric line pole near McCaslin. Crider suffered broken bones in the front of the face, the pole striking him a glancing blow on the front of the head, and apparently causing a concussion of the brain, which resulted in his death.

Crider was employed by the Collier Construction company of Cleveland, O., and was residing temporarily at 349 Neshannock avenue.

According to the information secured by Coroner T. F. Nugent, an old pole, with a side brace, which went into the ground, was being removed, and when the truck winch was attached to the upright pole, it broke off at the ground, where it had rotted away. This allowed the bracing pole, which had not been imbedded very firmly in the ground to fall, and Crider, who for some unaccountable reason, had started forward, was struck by the falling brace.

He was brought to the New Castle hospital and admitted for treatment at 12:05 p. m. Saturday.

Mr. Crider was born in Beaver Dam, O., on March 21, 1897, son of Joseph and Katherine Fritchie Crider. For 22 years he had been married to Katherine Hoover Crider, who survives him. He was a member of the Christian church.

In addition to his wife, he leaves one son, Delbert Crider of Beaver Dam, one daughter, Bettie Jane Pizzute of Kent, O.; one brother, Robert Crider of Seminole, Okla., and one sister, Bessie Ryen of Kansas.

The family will be at the George Morrow funeral home, North Jefferson street, to meet friends this evening from 7 until 9 o'clock. The body will be taken to the Bissler funeral home at Kent, O., Thursday morning, where services will be held.

AROUND CITY HALL

Sharon city council has adopted legislation tighting up on paving. In petitions to be passed in the future, will be a provision which will make it mandatory for the signers to pay 50 percent of the materials coat in advance, 25 percent within 30 days after the work is completed and the remaining 25 percent within a year after the paving is completed. This will lessen the likelihood of the city being required to borrow money. No such clause is in petitions presented to New Castle council.

Gibraltar Seizure Being Planned By British Enemies

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 31.—Italian and German travelers from Spain report that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops and small Spanish boats filled with artillery are preparing to seize the British Mediterranean stronghold of Gibraltar, the London News Chronicle reported from Basle, Switzerland, today.

The dispatch said the troops and vessels are concentrated at La Linea and that the anticipated attack on Gibraltar evidently will coincide with the expected German attack across the English channel against the British Isles.

According to reports from France, the paper added, Italy is concentrating bombers at Sardinia for an attack upon Gibraltar.

Local Trade School Termed Outstanding

Two Noted Visitors Inspect New Castle Machine Shop Activities

The New Castle Trade school was termed a "very outstanding" shop by two noted visitors recently.

Impressed at the way 63 local men are making headway in their machine shop practice course were Dr. Andrew Triche, Harrisburg, regional co-ordinator for vocational education of the state Department of Public Instruction, and Ralph G. Brown, district finance officer for the Work Projects Administration at Franklin.

Three shifts of 21 men each are receiving machine shop instruction under the supervision of Earle M. Cass, new vocational education director for the New Castle schools, and several aides.

Dr. Triche covers 19 counties and he said the New Castle shop is one of the most outstanding in his territory.

Night and day the instruction advances under the classification of national defense. The New Castle district school system is sponsoring the work in the hopes of preparing more men to man machines of industry.

Director Cass indicated today that the first men to be sent out into industry from the shop, qualified to man machines, may be ready for certification "very soon now."

Scouts In Camp See Movies On Tuesday Night

New 1,200 Pound Totem Pole Is Erected At Camp Phillips Tuesday

For the regular evening program at Boy Scout Camp John M. Phillips, Tuesday, Harold Boak showed movies. The pictures were taken at Culver Military Academy and proved to be quite interesting.

Mr. Boak also exhibited some color movies of Lawrence County scenes in autumn, spring and winter.

Scouts in camp erected a new totem pole near the camp Indian village, Tuesday. The pole weighs 1,200 pounds and provided the Scouts with a real mechanical problem.

This will be the final week at camp and the boys are certainly taking advantage of their time in the out-of-doors.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHILDREN IN THE WAR

This war has created millions of refugees and filled our newspapers with stories of their sufferings. Daily, appeals are made for funds to take care of these innocent victims of the war, many of whom are children. I think every one should endeavor to help them and make sacrifices, if necessary to give them succor.

But there is one aspect of these appeals that causes me some concern. What of our own charities here at home? I remember that during the last war, when persons gave so generously to war charities, they neglected charities at home which they ordinarily supported. The peace-time charities for crippled children, for orphans, for the blind; the milk funds and the fresh air funds—all these have just as great a need in wartime as in peace. Yet, last war, their work was hampered by construction of their finances.

The children in the slums at home still need milk to make them healthy and summer vacations at camp. Special care for cripples and defectives and homes for orphans must go on. War needs are extra, requiring extra funds.

Besides the financial assistance that is lost to home charities in wartime, welfare workers are lost as well. I remember that in the first world war, many welfare workers got so busy with war activities that they ceased their regular welfare work altogether. In fact, some private agencies had to give up their activities entirely because of the losses in finances and workers. The children and mothers who in ordinary times depended on them were left friendless.

In every country which took part in the last great war, these effects were certainly felt. The results were the same in every one of them—more children added to the unfit.

The same results seem likely to come from this war. Governments are straining every nerve and spending every penny they can get to build armaments. There will be the tendency consequently to reduce grants to other departments of government. The inevitable result of this will be that more and more welfare work will be left to private agencies. But these agencies will in the meantime be losing their financial support and their workers. Those who do continue to support them will have less to give because of taxes, increased to pay for armaments. A vicious circle is created.

Now, don't think I'm trying to get you to give less to war charities. I'm not. But, don't let those charities blind you to the need of the underprivileged at home. Our children are our first line of defense for tomorrow.

Local Congressional District Is Entitled To One Appointment, Graham States

Congressman Louis E. Graham has announced that the 26th District of Pennsylvania, composing Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties, is entitled to the appointment of a cadet to the United States Military Academy who will be admitted to the academy on the first day of July, 1941.

A competitive qualifying examination will be conducted by the United States Civil Service Commission in the near future and all boys desiring to be considered for this appointment are invited to participate. The appointment will be based on the results of this examination, and because of the exacting physical requirements it is advisable that candidates nominated for these examinations appear before a qualified physician and undergo a thorough physical examination, as such action may eliminate the possibility of candidates being nominated and passing the written examination only to be rejected by the medical officer of the War Department because of physical condition.

All applicants must be actual, bona fide residents of the 26th Congressional District, not under 17 nor over 22 years of age on the date of admission, and not less than 5 feet 6 inches in height.

All applicants desiring to compete in this preliminary, qualifying examination must notify Congressman Louis E. Graham, Room 1628, New House Office Building, Washington, D. C., not later than Friday, September 6, 1940, in order that necessary arrangements may be made with the Civil Service Commission. Applications received after this date cannot be considered for the reason that it requires the Civil Service Commission considerable time to prepare these examinations and they must be notified in advance.

These preliminary mental tests given by the Civil Service Commission, at the request of Congressman Graham, are for the designation of candidates to the Military Academy, and not for their admission. They will be held in the federal buildings in the respective counties and each applicant will be furnished a letter authorizing him to compete and advising him of the time and place of the examination.

Since taking office Congressman Graham has followed this policy in making his appointments to the two service academies and it has proven very satisfactory as it grants to all those interested an equal opportunity and the results are based upon the ratings furnished by the Civil Service Commission.

Construct Parking Lot At Hospital

Space For Eighty Cars Will Be Provided At Jameson Memorial Hospital

Parking space for eighty cars will be provided in a new parking lot, which is being constructed with WPA labor just west of the main building of the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Heretofore persons visiting the hospital have had to park along the drives and adjoining streets, and in the small space provided alongside the north wing.

The new accommodations will take care of the needs of the institution, it is believed.

Watch For Thieves, Farmers Are Warned

State Motor police today warned farmers to beware of persons who already have stolen one heifer and have attempted to steal two others. They asked that suspicious persons who park their trucks on lonely country lanes near pasture fields immediately call phone No. 1000, New Castle.

According to the motor police, one heifer was stolen in Neshannock township and two other attempts were made also in that township.

The thief led the heifer to another farm, said he had trouble leading the heifer, and was given permission to put the animal in a barn. Later a truck arrived and hauled the animal away.

The State Motor police asked that farmers take down the license number and other descriptive marks of trucks, big or small, they see parked on lonely country roads. If this information is hurried to the police they will immediately investigate the suspects.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The trichinella spiralis is a tiny, thread-like worm.

In our nation, 17,000,000 persons are said to be infested.

It enters the human body through uncooked, infested pork.

It enters the pig when the animal eats unclean garbage.

Many cities feed their municipal garbage to swine.

In Pennsylvania, 13 cities admit of this practice.

Thoroughly cooking pork will kill this parasite.

Trichinosis is the condition caused by these tiny worms.

It is difficult to diagnose or treat.

It is painful and exhausting, though seldom fatal.

All pork should be well-cooked before eating.

Cooking through and through kills the trichinella spiralis.

Declares Many Democrats Are Supporting Willkie

Halleck Reports Many Shifting

Says Many Letters Show Democrats "Fed Up" On The New Deal

WILLKIE TO MAKE TELLING CAMPAIGN

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, Jr.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 31—"It's not just a few big-shot Democrats—little Democrats by the hundreds the kind you don't hear about, are fed up with the new deal and are flocking to the support of Wendell Willkie" Rep. Charles Halleck (R) Ind. said today.

To prove this statement the youthful congressman who gained national prominence at the GOP convention as "the man who nominated Willkie" pointed to a stack of letters piled on his desk.

"They're from Democrats promising us support," he said, reading over names of small town shopkeepers, farmers and others.

Confers With Willkie

Hallack, a serious 39 year old attorney from Rensselaer, Ind., is a member of the Republican presidential nominee's inner advisory council. He just returned here after a cross country tour and conferences in Willkie's Colorada vacation headquarters. House minority leader Joseph Martin of Massachusetts the new GOP national chairman, named Halleck to represent Republican congressmen and the national committee at Willkie's acceptance speech in Elwood, Ind., August 17.

"It'll be a bang-up meeting and the speech will give them all something to think about" Malleck remarked.

He understood that Willkie was not going to be in any hurry after the acceptance ceremonies in launching his active campaign.

"It should begin about September 1, and it will be a real live compaign" he added.

Halleck, who has played a large part already in mapping Republican strategy, expects to make some rather extended trips himself on Willkie's behalf.

Claim Democrats Support

Frankly admitting the need of Democratic support, but nevertheless claiming to have such support, Halleck predicted Willkie will carry all of New England, most of the rest of the east, most of the middle west, all of the far west "with the possible exception of California," and 'even some of the southern states."

Twelve hours after his return to the capital, he reported some southern Democratic members of congress already were secretly pledging support to the GOP ticket.

All of the Republican congressmen even those who opposed Willkie the hardest at the convention, are now begging to have the nominee come out and speak in their districts, Halleck declared.

Democrats For Willkie

The latest old-line Democrat to come out for Willkie, according to the Republican national committee, is John B. Jameson, for 12 years chairman of the Democratic state committee of New Hampshire and former Democratic candidate for the United States senate. He has been an active member of the state Democratic committee for 40 years.

"As an American who is more interested in the welfare of the country than in the success of any political party, I shall vote for Willkie and McNary" Jameson wrote the Republicans.

"The citizens....should stop and realize that the new deal is responsible for the chaotic conditions today, the continued unemployment the restriction of business and for the enormous taxes that they pay."

PHILADELPHIANS REJECT PHONY BILLS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 31—Philadelphians are so good at detecting counterfeit money that its circulation dropped 57 per cent for the year, ended June 30, according to Frank B. Arnold, of the local secret service.

While $13,000 worth of bogus money was passed the previous year only $5,700 got by this year Arnold revealed.

It is established that most warts which appear on the skin of adults are produced by irritation; the cause of those which appear on children's hands are not known.

Charges High Pressure Propaganda For Draft

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill is supported by a "high pressure propaganda emanating from the military profession," Right Reverend Monsignor Michael J. Ready, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, charged Tuesday before the House Military Affairs committee.

Monsignor Ready, who said he came at the request of a group of bishops of the Catholic church, was one of several religious leaders who opposed the draft measure in whole or in part before the committee.

While not openly opposing the principle back of the bill, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick of the Riverside Baptist church in New York, submitted a statement asking for further exemptions for conscientious objectors.

Bishop W. Appleton Lawrence, of the Episcopal church of Springfield, Mass., attacked the principle, declaring "moral forces are stronger than military might and justice is not really settled by the test of arms."

Monsignor Ready, who brought the full power of the Catholic church against the measure, urged that the country make a vigorous attempt to secure an army by voluntary enlistment before resorting to conscription.

TULIP BULBS WILL BE SCARCE ARTICLE

HARRISBURG, July 31.—War conditions in the low countries have seriously interfered with shipments of bulbs to this country, according to John H. Light, secretary of agriculture. Normally, there are large shipments at this time of the year, but during the past several weeks wholesale seed houses have received practically no bulbs from Holland and other low countries.

Last year approximately 112,000,000 bulbs were imported, at least 95 per cent of which came from Holland. Usually from ninety-five to ninety-nine per cent of all bulbs sold in this country are imported. Because of the small supply of American-grown bulbs, prices are likely to be high this season, which lasts from September to Thanksgiving.

Weed Enforcement Provisions Given

Local Officials Are Charged With Duty Of Destroying Pests

HARRISBURG, July 31.—John H. Light, secretary of agriculture, today said his department is not charged with the enforcement of the Pennsylvania weed law.

The law specifically provides that anyone who desires protection or who is "aggrieved or about to be injured" by the growth of Canada Thistle or Chicory, must inform by written notice any constable or supervisor of the township or district in which the weeds may be growing. It is the duty of the local officer thus notified to give five days' notice in writing to the owner of the land involved. If the owner refuses to cut the Canada Thistle or Chicory, the official may hire some one to do the work and charge the costs to the owner. If the constable or supervisor neglects to perform his duties as prescribed by the law, he is liable to a fine of ten dollars.

CATTLE TUBERCULOSIS REDUCED TO MINIMUM

HARRISBURG, July 31.—The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Animal Industry, reports that during the month of June, 41,707 cattle and 51 goats were tested for tuberculosis, with only 279 cattle, but no goats, reacting to the test. During this same period, herd owners, on account of previous tuberculin tests, were paid $7,223.81 from state indemnities, and $5,243.32 from federal indemnities.

Maybe it's wicked, but if a little fellow is abused by a tyrant and no law will protect him, we like to see him make his own law.

Being kind to the animals which serve us is easier than being kind to the people who serve us. You see, the animals aren't competitors.

Boy Is Fatally Hurt; Another Injured When Bicycle Strikes Auto

ELLWOOD CITY, July 31.—William Henry Umling, aged 13, was instantly killed, and his companion, Gregorious Paul, aged 13, was badly injured, shortly after 3:30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, when they lost control of a bicycle while riding down the steep Wurtemburg Heights road, and crashed into a motor car belonging to the Beaver Falls Athletic Association, carrying a group of baseball players to Oil City, where they were scheduled to play a game in the Penn State League last evening.

According to the information secured by Coroner T. F. Nugent from those involved and spectators, the two boys were descending the Wurtemburg Heights road, which is an extremely steep thoroughfare, and apparently lost control of the bicycle. As they neared the intersection of the Ellwood City-Portersville road, they apparently sensed their danger, and tried to stop the momentum of the bicycle by dragging their feet. There is a high hedge which obstructs the view of those coming down the hill and they were unable to see the approaching automobile, crashing into the front end of the vehicle.

Umling was hurled into the grass at the side of the road, and was dead when picked up by the occupants of the car. He had suffered a broken neck. Charles Anderson, of Mounted Route 7, took Umling and Paul to the Ellwood City hospital, where Umling was pronounced dead.

Riding in the truck belonging to the baseball club, were the driver, Charles A. Christopher, trainer of the baseball club, and Mike Rollins, Glennon Schaeffer, Edward Checkley and Ray Edwards.

Christopher stated that he was only traveling at a moderate rate of speed, as they were not due to start their game until 9 o'clock that evening, but that the boys appeared out of the side road as if from nowhere, and he was unable to stop.

Dale Musselman, aged 17, who was cutting grass on the lawn of the John H. Thompson home, stated that the boys were coming down the steep road at a fast rate of speed, and were dragging their feet in an attempt to slow down. It appeared as if one of the boys was trying to jump off, but did not.

William Umling was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Umling, of Wurtemburg Heights, and was a popular pupil of the Wurtemburg school.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by the following brothers and sisters, John, in Arizona; Margaret, Betty Jane, Edward and Dorothy, all at home.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this morning and will be announced in tomorrow's paper.

Gregorous Paul lives at Ellport. While he suffered a fractured leg and a skull injury, hospital attendants said his condition is not critical.

ELLWOOD CITY, July 31.—The Ellwood American Legion All-Stars were eliminated by the Chicora American Legion nine at Butler field in the third game of the series last night by a score of 6 to 4. Ellwood won the first game of the series.

The winners jumped to an early lead with two runs in the third and fifth while Ellwood tallied once in the sixth and rallied for three runs in the ninth, but it fell two runs short of victory.

Clovers Gain Second Place In Legion Loop

ELLWOOD CITY, July 21—Glasser and Johnson shared the mound for the Clover Farms in last night Legion game at Ewing Park and limited the manos to four hits to gain their team a 3-2 triumph their second straight victory in the last half taken by a one run margin.

McCready of the losers fanned ten and gave only hit hits but two unearned runs in the Clovers sixth rally proved fatal to his chances.

The victors win, their second in three starts, raised them from a tie for third place to sole possession of second. The victory was Glasser's fourth of the season without a defeat.

CHURCH SAVED LIVES

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal.—To their attendance at a half-hour church service four members of a Berkeley family today owed their lives. Enroute to their summer home Mr. and Mrs. John L. Dettling stopped to attend devotional services. Arriving at their cottage a short time later, they found that during the time they were attending church the entire cottage had been wrecked by a 300 pound tree stump which had crashed through the roof after being blasted by dynamite.

Heat Turns Him Into Seahorse

Tom, Fulton Fish Market steed, found New York's hot weather so unendurable that he kicked over the traces and went for a dip in the East River. It took perspiring police and firemen almost two hours to get the 1,500-pound horse out again, as shown.

Bible Found With Clothing In Car Given To Tramp

Youngstown Woman Says She Gave Bible Away Several Months Ago

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, July 31.—Cleveland police today requested Pittsburgh detectives to send them several pieces of men's clothing and a Bible found yesterday in a box car in the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad yards in Pittsburgh for examination in connection with the torso murder mysteries.

The apparel found was in the same line of dilapidated freight cars which carried three dismembered bodies to McKees Rocks near Pittsburgh last May.

Police hoped that the Bible bearing the name of Mrs. Isabelle Eddy of Youngstown, O., would throw some light on the "mad butcher of Kingsbury Run" who is believed to have killed 24 persons and dismembered their bodies.

In Youngstown Mrs. Eddy told police she gave the Bible to a tramp several months ago.

President Halts American Export Of Aviation Gas

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—President Roosevelt today approved an order closing American exports of U. S. aviation gasoline to all countries except those of the western hemisphere.

The move was recommended by Col. R. L. Maxwell, administrator of export control.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early made the following announcement:

"In the interests of the national defense, the export of aviation gasoline is being limited to nations of the western hemisphere, except where such gasoline is required elsewhere for the operations of American owned companies."

The latter exception will permit such concerns as the Pan-American Airways to procure aviation gas for European and Far Eastern operations.

Churchill Says No Easy Sledding For Adolf Hitler

Prime Minister Admits Hitler Would Have Been Better Off Months Ago

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 31.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared today that Chancellor Hitler—if and when he launches his long-promised blitzkrieg on England—"Won't have such a comfortable journey as he might have had a few months ago."

Speaking before a gathering of workers, Churchill declared:

"I don't know whether Hitler has missed the bus, but whatever happened, he won't have such a comfortable journey as he might have had a few months ago."

Churchill made a surprise visit to northeast England where he inspected coastal fortifications and defense works. He viewed sections of the defenses in detail and energetically discussed them with British officers.

The prime minister appeared greatly moved by the warmth of the reception.

During the course of his remarks, he shouted:

"Are we downhearted?"

The gathering, which was made up mainly of women workers, replied lustily:

"No."

Judging by the biographies newspaper work consists in reporting local news for a few years and then being a famous foreign correspondent.

Blessed are the ignorant. They do so many wonders that learned men won't attempt because they can't be done.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 31.—The nations compulsory military training program may cause Governor James to forego or delay his vacation this year. . . . The governor, when advised that he would be faced with the task of passing on the appointments of some 2,000 citizens to handle the machinery of the draft in Pennsylvania, expressed the fear he was doomed to remain in the capital during the heat of August. . . . Indications are, however, that the governor will be able to get away, at least for a few weeks.

Attempting to keep cool along with the rest of Pennsylvania's perspiring citizenry during the recent heat wave, Governor James transacted the state's business with his coat off and his shirt sleeves rolled up. . . . "One has to keep cool some way," the chief executive explained. . . . Asked by a reporter where he planned on spending his vacation, Governor James retorted, with a broad smile, "It's none of your business," adding that when he went away this time he wanted to leave the cares of office far behind, sans reporters.

Pennsylvania motorists footed the nation's second largest gasoline tax bill last year, according to figures compiled by the U. S. public roads administration. . . . Out of a total of $816,433,000 collected by the 48 states during the past year, $59,584,000 came from Keystone state motorists. . . . The greatest amount came from New York motorists, who paid their state $69,693,000. . . . Pennsylvania was followed by Ohio and California.

An active two-month's campaign in Pennsylvania is looked for by capitol hill political observors. . . . Neither party is expected really to get under way until after Labor Day although Democratic party chieftains express hopes of opening their campaign by August 15. . . . The Republicans plan on initiating their campaign in September with the state convention of young Republicans, to which Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, and his running mate, Senator McNary, have been invited, and the Pittsburgh meeting of the Republican state committee. . . . The Democrats have not yet formulated their plans, their convention having adjourned two weeks later than that of the G. O. P.

With national preparedness to the front in the nation's thought, the state department of military affairs is fast taking the foremost position among the executive departments, next to that of the governor. . . . The adjutant general's office is being high-geared to the new demands being made daily. . . . Plans for conscription have been ready for six years, however, and require little preparation to be placed into action. . . . The department is working in close cooperation with the federal government.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

For the last year we have had a slightly uneasy feeling that something was missing from the national scene. We went back over games like "knock-knock" and Mah Jong and all sorts of popular gags and sports, but that didn't supply the answer. They are missing, to be sure, but none of them would leave the slightest touch of nostalgia in its wake. Then, a few days ago, we saw some men rolling empty barrels into a brewery and it all came clear. "Nobody ever goes over Niagara Falls in a barrel any more," was our illuminating thought and then suddenly we knew what had been bothering us.

There are no more stunters; no more Flagpole Kellys or Steve Brodies jumping off the Brooklyn Bridge; no human flies; nobody diving one hundred feet into three feet of water, and even the human cannonball isn't what he used to be. Some qualification is necessary, as journeyman death-defyers are still at work around county fairs and resort beaches, but it's a trade, and the great Siegfrieds of such high hazard have passed or are passing. The last mild excitement of this kind was pretty much of an anti-climax. That was when the college boys took to eating goldfish a couple of years ago.

The classical stunters perhaps have been discouraged by too much amateur competition at home and abroad. If Steve Brodie really did jump off the Brooklyn Bridge in 1886, swathed in so many garments that he was nothing less than a cocoon, his story wasn't nearly so exciting or important as that casual little news story about that Norwegian family that shoved out into the dark, lowering Atlantic in a tiny smack with the Nazis dusting bombs all around them, and made land safely on the Canadian coast—grand-dad, who is 74, the father and mother, and brothers, wives and children, making 23 in all. They could say "shoo!" to a mere human fly, and maybe to old Lief Erikson, too, when you come to think of it.

Any brisk dogfight over the British Channel makes our public aerial stunting just rocking-chair business. The Russians the other day claimed a 32,000-foot parachute drop, without opening the chute until within 1,000 feet of the ground. The old county fair was never like that. If there are any barmstormers left among our airmen, their best hair-raising exploits are just routine in the dive-bombing workouts which are being given our boys at the army training fields.

I met my friend Lew Eckhart, Broadway booking agent, the other day and asked him about the public demand for thrills, or the lack of it.

It's out," he said. "These acts are a dime a dozen. Some people along the Main Stem think that life is becoming so cheap that nobody cares very much whether this zany or that breaks his neck. That isn't my idea at all. I don't think we're as hard-hearted as all that. I figure that pretty nearly everything looks like small stuff to the general run of people when they get loaded up on headlines from Europe all day long.

"Then there's another thing, and although it hurts my business, it looks all to the good. You take any pitchman coming in from the road and he'll tell you that the big mobs at the fairs or carnivals, or whatever they make a pitch, want something they can get in on. Roller skating, for instance, is going big. People seem to want to do something rather than just stand around and watch somebody else do his stuff. And then, in New York and San Francisco, the World's Fair fill people up with substitute thrills of one kind or another, and they lose their taste for the old-fashioned stunting."

We wonder whether the hazards of the day have not become such that we are unpleasantly affected by someone risking his life—as if to say, "why drag that up when we're trying to have a good time."

Hot as July has been it hasn't stopped a rush of voters from getting registered in the permanent registration office. According to figurges compiled by Chief Clerk Charles D. Ross there were 230 registrations in July as compared to 76 in June. From these totals the changes of party are deductable.

In the week just past, 49 voters registered as Republicans and 13 as Democrats. Two Democrats changed to Republicans and 3 Republicans changed to Democrats. One Democrat changed to Prohibition and one Royal Oak to No Party.

The total registration at the present time is 42,122, divided as follows: Republicans 26,608, Democrats 15,255, No Party 156, Others 103.

Permanent Registration Chief Clerk Charles D. Ross has returned from his vacation and one of the spots he visited was the C. M. T. C. camp at Fort George Meade, Md., where his son is in camp.

The weather in camp has been hot all month according to Mr. Ross but the New Castle and Lawrence County boys have showed up well in the training. All of the local boys are expected home sometime Saturday night or Sunday.

Will opponents of compulsory military training be kind enough to tell us some other way to get enough trained men to defend America?

Reds On Way To Second Pennant

Defeat Giants 6 To 3 To Keep Eight Game Lead As Pirates Throttle Dodgers

By ED KIELY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 31.—It is pretty hard to beat a team that never has a losing streak and, therefore, it is pretty hard to figure how any team is going to beat out the Cincinnati Reds for the National League pennant.

So far this season the Rhinelanders have not lost any more than three straight games. Every time the league-leaders look like they are heading into a tailspin, Manager Bill McKechnie calls upon one of his "clutch" pitchers to straighten matters out.

A good example of such happenings was shown to a small band of loyal New York Giant rooters at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The day previous the Bronx boys knocked off the Reds in spectacular fashion and it was freely predicted the pacesetters were in for a few setbacks.

McKechnie settled the argument by sending his ace "clutch" heaver, big Paul Derringer, against the Terryites and, although the successful righthander was lifted in the seventh inning for a pinch-hitter, he played a major part in the Giants' 6 to 3 defeat. It was Derringer's 15th victory of the season.

Mize Hits Two

In Boston, Johnny Mize welted out his 27th and 28th home runs of the year to help the St. Louis Cardinals eradicate the Bees, 13 to 5. Mize now has a commanding lead in the Major League homer derby. The loss was the seventh straight for the Bees, who are settled peacefully in last place in the senior circuit.

The Philadelphia Phillies tagged a quartet of pitchers for 11 safeties to grab a 7 to 5 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Kirby Higbe, relieved by Si Johnson in the seventh inning, was credited with his seventh triumph of the season.

Young Ed Head, the erstwhile Eastern League strike-out sensation from Elmira, made a disappointing debut for the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field last night as the Pittsburgh Pirates smacked him and two other Brooklyn hurlers for an 8 to 2 win.

Indians Win Game

The Cleveland Indians went into a tie with the Detroit Tigers for first place in the American League by winning a night game from Boston, 2 to 1, after the Tigers had lost an afternoon encounter to the New York Yanks, 8 to 6. Bob Feller hurled his 17th win of the year at Cleveland to put the Indians into the first place tie.

A capable relief job by Pitcher Pete Appleton enabled the Chicago White Sox to score a 3 to 1 verdict over the Philadelphia Athletics. Appleton halted a threatening rally in the ninth by fanning Catcher Frank Hayes with the bases loaded.

In the other American League night game, the Washington Senators downed the St. Louis Browns 4 to 0.

INDIES-SAINTS PLAY TIE GAME

There was a pitching battle at the Cedar street field last night as the Lawrence Indies and St. Josephs teams battled to a 3-3 tie in seven innings. Both teams had three hits.

Andy Sugent, on the hill for the Saints deserved to win, but for errors back of him spoiled his finely pitched game. He fanned seven men. Pat Majocha and Joe Wilk did the Indies hurling and only gave up three hits the former fanning five and the latter two.

Heavy hitting was done by Magusiak, Kozela and Gennock. The Indies trailed 3 to 1 going into the last of the seventh and batted in two runs deadlocking the game.

Arenas-Checkers Battle For Title

The first-half championship of the girls softball league will be at stake tonight at the Cedar street field at 6 o'clock when the Arena girls battle Manager Jimmy Million and his Checker girls.

This should be a crackerjack of a battle tonight as the teams are rather evenly matched. There are quite a few stars in the lineup of both teams.

There was a meeting of the managers of the girls league last night at the home of President Rocco P. Viggiano and the managers voted to allow the girls to bunt the second half.

The following schedule will be played Thursday to start the second-half:

Booker T. Washingtons vs. Checker Girls—Glasser Field.
Junedales vs. West Pittsburg.
Liberty Stars vs. Arenas—Dean Park.

Bronze And Civics Scheduled Tonight

The Johnson Bronze and East Side Civics have been ordered to play-off their recently protested game at 6 o'clock tonight at Lehigh Field. The Gus Big Ten and Johnson Bronze game has been postponed till a later date. The Johnson Bronze can win the first-half title if they win tonight.

BOOKERS WIN GAME

The Booker T. Washington colored softball team won a class B softball game last night from the Troggios at Butler road field 9 to 6. Daniels did the heaviest hitting for the winners, and the winning pitcher was Johnson, who relieved Kimbroo. Semansky was the losing hurler. Tonight the B. T. W. team meets the Franklin, Pa., colored team at the Booker T. Washington field at 6 o'clock.

Mel Brewer, Illinois football captain of last year will take graduate work at the University of New Hampshire and help coach the team .

It's All Bobby's Now

Bobby Riggs (right) of Chicago, retired the Seabright Bowl, symbol of victory in the men's singles of the annual Seabright, N. J., tennis tournament, when he scored his third successive win of the title by beating Frank Kovacs (left). The unseeded and unranked Kovacs carried Riggs to five sets before Bobby downed him 2-6; 0-6; 6-3; 11-9; 10-8. (Central Press)

Sports World Ramblings

One sport note after another and whatever happened to the Daffy Dodgers?—As you probably know by now, Detroit ranks as the "fightingest" aggregation in baseball. Sheer "guts" has kept the Motor City machine in the midst of the scramble for the American League bunting. But why? We believe that the incentive is being provided by Walter Owen Briggs, the boss. . . .

Aside from paying his players top salaries, Briggs will remove the rubber band from the bank roll at the end of the season and hand out bonuses, regardless of where the Tigers finish. If money isn't a big enough incentive to make a man work to the marrow of his bones, then what is? It's hard to dislike a fellow like Briggs, another principal reason which causes the boys to fight for everything. . . .

Speaking of major salaries, Detroit is perhaps the best paid ball club. Del Baker, the pilot, takes down $25,000. "Hank" Greenberg's envelope calls for $32,000. Charlie Gehringer draws down the same as Manager Baker. Rudy York's end is $22,000. Bobo Newsom is a $20,000 a year man. Tommy Bridges' curves are worth $17,500. Pete Fox pockets $12,000. Dick Bartell, Pinky Higgins, Bruce Campbell and Earl Averill come in the $10,000 bracket. All told, these 12 diamond addicts collect $173,000. . . .

Bucky Walters is being plagued by, of all clubs, the Phillies, his old teammates. The Cincy wizard has dropped five contests, three of them to the Phoolish Phils . . . In between swings, "Babe" Ruth, who shoots consistently in the 70's, says he has given up on the Yanks. Ruth claims the old punch just isn't there . . .

It was only natural for the Daffy Dodgers to bring up Ed. Head from Elmira. Head started out as a southpaw, suffered a broken arm and converted himself into a right hander! Now he's a Dodger . . . A little birdie lit on the typewriter and whispered that the Boston Bees are for sale. If you have something like $300,000 that you care to invest, you can buy a beehive that may produce plenty of honey. . . .

Bill Terry is being blamed for the poor attendance at Giant night battles. Some way down the line, Terry penned a magazine yarn in which he blasted the lamplight sport . . . What happened to Firpo Marberry, the ex-major league great? He's still pitching, now in Forth Worth, Texas . . . Stan Hack has clouted but two homers this season—both of which he cuffed in the Polo Grounds. . . .

Here it is August and the Washington Huskies have been named as favorite to cop the Pacific Coast grid bauble. . . . It's hard to understand why the Billy Conn drum beaters are working overtime. You'd think that Bob Pastor, Conn's next, is a ham. It might be a good idea to wait until after the Pastor shindig. . . . Bill DeCorrevont, Northwestern grid ace who underwent an appendicitis operation (and he just made it), figures to be ready for the collegiate campaign, much to the regret of Northwestern foes. . . .

CROTON DEFEATS RED SOX 10 TO 2

Croton continued to pound the ball hard last night at Washington High field and had 14 hits as they defeated the Red Sox team 10 to 2 in a city league battle Micco and Mazzari had long home run drives to feature the game.

Pepe hurlel a steady seven-hit game, fanning five batters. The Crotons got to McCarty and McMillan in all but two innings, scoring at least one run outside the second and fifth. It was Croton's first win of the second half.

Many Enter City Golf Tournament

Annual Championship Event Will Soon Get Under Way At Sylvan Heights

Forty-five entries have already been received by Manager Walter S. Hart of the Sylvan Heights Course, for the annual championship tournament, the winner of which is acknowledged the best in the city.

Those wishing to enter still have until August 2, and all qualifying rounds must be played by August 11, Manager Hart states.

Emil Grommes, winner of the title last year, will be unable to compete for the title, having joined the pro ranks during the past year, which automatically disqualifies him, the tournament being for the simonpures only.

More than a half dozen players will have a chance to win the title, and some comparatively unknown may forge to the head this year, as there are quite a few boys capable of shooting the tough municipal layout around par.

WEST PITTSBURG PLAYING TIGERS

There will be three City baseball league games on the card for tonight. The feature game takes the fast stepping and hard hitting West Pittsburg "Gas House" team to the Lee avenue field for a battle with the West Side Tigers.

The Red Sox will go to Clifton Flats field to oppose the Slovaks in a postponed city league tilt. Anderson will pitch for the Slovaks and it will be Louer for the Red Sox.

The other game in the league takes the St. Joseph team to Lockley field for a game with the Elders. Rev. Fr. Peter Schirra will do the pitching for the Saints and it will be Hartman or Frigione for the Elders.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEKALL

A reply has been received concerning the American Flag problem, stated in this column Monday night . . . According to records that we were permitted to see, a certain dry goods store has been unable to secure American Flags from the manufacturer because same has been unable to fulfill the demand from all over the United States . . . every effort is being made to get a stock of flags on hand and as soon as such task is completed, the public will be notified. 5 ft. by 8 ft. flag is the size wanted.

So you think it's warm . . . so it is, but may we take your memory for a little ride backward or forward as you so desire . . . it might not mean much but it might bring a cool breeze for a moment.

And what is so rare as a day in December
Then if ever come colder days
When earth asks us to forget or remember
The heat that was ours in midsummer's haze.
Whether we look or whether we listen
We feel the snow fall or see it glisten
Every icicle with its stabbing point
Is eager to fall and pierce us between joint
Or mayhap, upend us as ice covers streets
With frozen rain drops or sudden sleets.
Yes, 'twas hot last July, of that there's no doubt
But it's the cold weather now that causes our pout.

The above poem might be a little out of season but we think you get the point.

We have a couple of dogs that would like to have good homes . . . they are absolutely free and have no guarantee whatsoever . . . here they are as they are.

Councilman W. H. Dunlap . . . 2 fox terrier pups, one female and the other male. Here is a good opportunity to get a dog and train it your way.

Mrs. Hoover, 1122 Hemlock . . . Stray bulldog came to her house, she would like to give it to some one if owner doesn't claim it instead of letting city pound do away with it. Inquire at once.

Stock Market Softer Today

Brief Bulge At Opening Of Market Fails To Hold, Few Losses Occur

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, July 31.—The stock market turned soft today after a brief bulge at the opening which saw yesterday's rally extended fractionally.

In a first hour turnover of 190,000 shares, the largest hourly volume in some weeks, prices moved up an average of a half point, aviations and chemicals leading. However, the advance was abruptly halted toward midday when profit taking developed. Some issues reacted more than a point to fractional losses while others rested around last night's finals.

Steels were among the heaviest losers in the mid-morning reaction, disregarding bullishness around the industry. An early ⅜ gain in Bethlehem Steel was converted to a 1⅜ loss. U. S. Steel was down a point.

Confer Upon Successor To James Farley

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Preliminary to his meeting tomorrow with a subcommittee of the Democratic national committee, President Roosevelt called on Sen. James F. Byrnes (D) S. C. to a White House luncheon conference today to discuss the perlexing problem of selecting a successor to James A. Farley as national chairman.

Byrnes, who was Mr. Roosevelt's floor manager at the Chicago convention, has been mentioned for the post himself but has stated flatly he would not take it.

Surface indications were that the president was in somewhat of a quandary about picking a man to fill Farley's shoes as his 1940 campaign manager.

At noon tomorrow, the president will confer with Edward J. Flynn, Bronx leader and Democratic national committeeman for New York; David Fitzgerald of Connecticut, W. W. Howes of South Dakota, Mrs. Mildred Jasper of Ohio and Miss Beatrice Cobb of North Carolina.

The national committee at Chicago delegated full power to this subcommittee to ascertain the president's wishes and name a national chairman.

Two Ocean Navy Is Recommended

Equipment For Army Of Two Million Men Is Also Included

DEFENSE PROGRAM PUSHED FORWARD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 31—Completion of the legislative phases of the multi-billion-dollar national defense program was neared today when the house appropriations committee approved and sent to the floor a bill carrying $4,963,000,000 in funds to provide a two-ocean navy and equipment for an army of two million men.

Leaders predicted quick passage of the measure, which went to the house in almost the exact form requested by President Roosevelt in his last message asking for appropriations for a preparedness program which will ultimately cost $14,000,000,000.

According to the committee report, the measure is specifically designed to:

1. Carry forward the navy program by providing funds for starting construction on 200 combat vessels and more than 50 non-combat ships.

2. To purchase complete equipment for an immediate army of 1,200,000 men and to provide tanks, guns, artillery and ammunition and manufacturing facilities for another 800,000 men.

3. To procure 15,000 additional planes for the army and 4,000 additional for the navy—all complete with armor, bomb-sights and guns.

This program will give the army a total of 25,000 planes and the navy 10,000.

The bill also calls for funds to train 5,000 additional youth in the naval reserve with the ultimate objective of making officers out of them.

The only item requested which the commmittee deleted was $7,000,000 for a drydock in New York harbor which is to be taken care of in a separate bill.

The total figure in the bill includes $2,234,000,000 in cash and $2,729,000,000 in contractural authority. Of this $3,912,000,000 in cash and contracts is made available for the army and $1,051,000,000 for the navy.

Approval of the measure came at the urging of army and navy officials who appeared before executive hearings of the committee.

Mellon Estate Goes To Girls' School

Pennsylvania College For Women To Get Seven-Acre And 30-Room Mansion

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 31—The half million dollar, seven acre estate of Paul Mellon on Woodland road today was turned over to the Pennsylvania college for women as a memorial to Andrew W. Mellon, Pittsburgh financier and former secretary of the treasury.

Announcement of the gift from Arthur E. Braun, president of the college for which Paul Mellon's father served as trustee for many years. At the special request of Mr. Mellon, it was reported, the large, 30 room brick mansion which contains an indoor swimming pool and bowling alleys will be called "Andrew Mellon Hall."

The estate is directly contiguous to the present nine acre campus of the college. It was originally purchased by the late Mr. Mellon in 1917. Paul Mellon bought the property from his father while the latter was in Washington, D. C. engaged in preparing plans for the construction of the national gallery of art.

In making the gift, Mr. Mellon stated:

"My father who was a trustee of the college, often spoke of the institution as a logical and worthy recipient should a gift such as this seem suitable. I believe the house will prove most useful to the college and easily adaptable to its purpose.

The Mellons spend most of their time at their 40 acre farm near Upperville, Fauquier county, Virginia, and it was expected that this would now become their permanent residence.

Seventeen-Year Locust Emerges

Insects Are Causing Damage To Trees In Central Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, July 31.—The dead appearance of hardwood trees in some of the state forests is attributed to the work of the 17-year locust, said Secretary G. Albert Stewart of the Department of Forests and Waters, today.

District foresters report that the 17-year locusts are prevalent in Clinton, Clearfield, Union, Cumberland, Montour and Schuylkill counties. This insect is interesting from the fact that it requires seventeen years for its final transformation. The Indians knew the insect before the advent of the white man and its periodical appearance was considered as an omen of dire events.

The 17-year locust should not be confused with the dog day locust or harvest fly, which occurs annually in relatively small numbers and is easily recognized by its larger size and greenish color. The 17-year locust is black and orange in color.
